

The Wasp

Daytime temperatures in January make it the coldest month of the year in the UK. February nights are colder in England (but not Scotland).

Science Spot

Learning about teeth and digestion: Year 4 have been getting to grips with some tricky scientific words this term as they learn all about the digestive system and the different kinds of teeth. This week they have focused on the digestive system, first of all drawing and labelling a diagram showing what they think they know. After the first lesson, they were then able to draw a much more detailed diagram, showing all their new learning and how they were getting to grips with some very tricky spellings.

Above: Last week, Lily showed her previous understanding of the human digestive system in her diagram on the left, then learned about lots of other parts, which she showed in her much more detailed diagram on the right.

Below: In this week's lesson they learned about the functions of the different parts and Leah produced a 'lift the flap' diagram, showing names and functions.

E-safety notice

I know parents often talk to their children about everyday dangers including crossing the roads, stranger danger, water safety, the railways and so on. I don't think we treat on-line safety in quite the same way. You can use the following website to check the nature of the apps and games your children are playing and then use this as a basis for a discussion about on-line safety:

Own Books

Some children have picked up one of our 'Own Books' today. You are welcome to keep it or return it and exchange it for another one. The scheme is being run by Mrs Nel and helps reward those children interested in reading. We hope that every child in school will get a chance to choose a book.

Handwriting

This was from Toby F in Year 5. What do you think? More examples next week.

During the Victorian era (1837-1901), good penmanship was considered very important. Writing was vital as the Victorians did not have computers or mobile phones.

PTA Quiz Night-Solo Club

The PTA Quiz is taking place on Friday 26th January at The Solo Club starting at 8.00pm.

6-8 members in a team. £2.00 per person (£2.50 on the night). Entry forms from the school office.

What was the name of Richard Briers' character in 'The Good Life'? Where are this year's Winter Olympics being held? Have you entered a team yet?

The front gate opens at 8.40am and the children can enter the school buildings at 8.45am. The front gate closes at 9.10am and after this time you will have to come in through the main doors and unfortunately you will then be marked in late.
